create a custom view with text centered in the middle (like in a label) and then to be able to add a variable number of labels to this view. How can I do this? I know how to add a label to a UIView, but how to make it centered like the label of a UIView?
Thanks. A: Create a custom view with a UIImageView and a label within it. Position the imageView to the center and the label to the top so that the label is centered with respect to the imageView. Then just add the label to your view. Friday, November
