ExtraClipboard provides you with as many clipboards as you need without restricting the original functionality of the Windows clipboard. ExtraClipboard is a Windows console application that works with all Windows operating systems. You simply install the application and perform a restart. ExtraClipboard is completely compatible with the standard Windows clipboard. It does not introduce new features that are not already available in the Windows clipboard but it rather provides more functionality than the standard Windows clipboard. When you click the ExtraClipboard icon on the desktop, you can create new clipboards, delete old ones, edit existing clipboards, manage all events (create new events, delete events, edit events, manage event states and states) and choose between the 2 Microsoft clipboards. Clipboard list management: You can easily browse through the list of clipboards and select any clipboard (or a selection of clipboards). You can also select a single clipboard or several clipboards (groups) to be used at the same time, and assign one or more events to it (for example, to automatically paste a clipboard entry on Ctrl+V or an action on a specific keystroke, or to perform an application of text or an edit event on the selected one). ExtraClipboard Features: - all essential functions of the standard Windows clipboard - all functionality (but with more features) of the Microsoft Clipboard Manager - clipboard history with integration into a graphical preview window - use EXE files for displaying the clipboard list - bootstrapping to register the application - console application to integrate in an existing Windows environment - an intuitive and quick interface - current clipboard selection and selection from the list - selection of several clipboards to edit at once - selection of several clipboard entries to apply (actions) at once - you can automatically paste data on clipboard events - you can change the state of events - you can edit the state of clips - you can create new events - manage events - open tool tip upon events - import/export lists - you can use shell shortcuts to paste and edit - clipboard contents can be inspected in an easy and fast way - small and friendly application - easily integrated with existing Windows applications It is not advised to unload update at the same time that other programs (such as notepad) are running. Otherwise they will be unable to access the memory space. It's better to unload the update, close down (turn 09e8f5149f

Clipboard items are managed using a unique OrderedDictionary object that keeps all the clipboards in order. Each clipboards items are managed using a unique OrderedDictionary object that keeps all the clipboards in order. The OrderedDictionary used is bound to the generic dictionary in which the other items are stored. When you click on an entry the selected item is pasted into the document. You can drag and drop the data you want to store in one or more clipless and the paste it in the document or in the current window. Dictionary and Main Objects The dictionary used for managing the clipless items is bound to the generic dictionary that implements the IDictionary interface. Clipboard Items This is the CliplessItem class that is generated by the ExtraClipboard project templates and used to store the clipboards items information. An ExtraClipboardItem object implements the IDictionary interface and keeps all the necessary information for working with the clipboard item. ExtraClipboard Entry Pane This is the ExtraClipboardEntryPane class that is generated when you create a ExtraClipboard project. It contains all the actions needed for managing the data on the clipless list and for the pasting of the item. ExtraClipboard Settings ExtraClipboard Settings displays the user preferences for the clipless management and the configuration of the clipless item. ExtraClipboard Main Window This is the main window of the ExtraClipboard application. It contains all the data sources, the action pane and the clipless list. ExtraClipboard Settings is a small application that displays all the configuration options for the ExtraClipboard application. ExtraClipboard allows you to configure several system options. You can use the setting panel to configure the transparency of the ExtraClipboard window, to change the position of the clipless list and the action pane, to modify the text size of the application text and list, and to change the name of the application. ExtraClipboard Examples This is a sample project that demonstrates how to use the ExtraClipboard application. The example uses a console application, but the project can be made more windows-based. To use it you should copy the ExtraClipboard.dll from the Archive (ExtraClipboard-x.xx.xx.zip) into the application's installation folder.

This add-on uses the original Windows clipboard (if it exists), and adapts its functionality. It allows you to place multiple data items on the clipboard, and from that clipboard you can paste all items that are on the clipboard, or you can paste them separately, one at a time. Features and functionality: ? Paste items from the Original Windows Clipboard With this add-on, the Windows clipboard (Original Windows Clipboard) can be accessed through the Window's context menu (right click on the desktop). This add-on allows you to paste into the current document, in the current tab, any data on the original Windows clipboard. You have separate options for specifying the insertion point before and after pasting the clipboard data. You can paste individual items or the whole original clipboard: you can even paste individual data items one by one. ? Paste items from the extraclipboard multiple clipboards The extraclipboard extension shows the current selection or the contents of the clipboard in the list of items. When you select an item from the list, a new clipboard is created and the selection is copied into it. If the selection is a range, two clones are created, each with the range marked. When you paste any of the clipboards, the items will be pasted into the current document, in the current tab. ? Paste items from the extraclipboard and switch between them The extraclipboard has several "pages" that can be created and pasted to. If you press the right mouse button on an item, you can switch between current and previous pages (or just switch to another page if there are only one or two pages). By default, the order of pasting is set by the order in which items were copied. The insertion point can be moved when paste any item with the right mouse button. ? All the items on the clipboard are shown in the status bar The extraclipboard extension shows the items on the clipboard in the status bar, while copying or pasting. The number of items is indicated in a message box or in the status bar at all times. 4.24.2009 Installation: First you have to download the.zip file containing the.exe installer file. Next, copy the extraclipboard.dll and the extraclipboard.ini file from the zip to your \Users\
